MSC Assessment of Alaska Salmon Fisheries

Certificate Extension

14 December 2006

The MSC process for independently re-assessing the commercial salmon fisheries in Alaska is being extended. The assessment is being extended to allow for the time that was necessary to collect and evaluate additional information and still complete the necessary process required under the MSC program.

This time extension will continue through 31 October 2007. The new timeline chosen is to allow for all processes to be completed without interruption to commercial activities. Although the timeline extends through the 2007 salmon season, SCS will endeavour with all effort to complete the assessment process prior to the season.
